

Formulas for Career Success: The Interview Process

Interview

meeting at which people talk to try to get to know one another through the asking and answering of questions

Interviewer

person in an interview who asks questions

Interviewee

person in an interview who answers questions

Group Interview

interview with one interviewer to multiple interviewees; also known as mass interview

Panel Interview

interview with multiple interviewers to one interviewee

Non-verbal Cues

perceptual information communicated through behaviors rather than words or sound; include dress, posture, facial expression, eye contact and body language